The Pride Is Back

Back from a two-year absence, science teacher Randy Malandro helps a student with the day's homework assignment.

During Lunch A, Sophomore Amy Kuroiwa finds time to joke with friends. Amy is also an active member on the girls Cross-Country team.

Cheering along with the crowd, the DC band shows pride and support before demonstrating their contest performance at half-time

"School spirit is a vital part of athletics. It really makes the team feel special when they are fully supported by their friends and classmates," said senior Mike Burner. Mike was part of the varsity football team and the varsity wrestlers.

Pausing between lunch A and lunch B are Senior Pam Ogden, Juniors Larry Lewis, Teresa Durham and Sophomore Johnnie Wolf. The halls were decorated for the first home football game against the Lawrence Central Bears.

While preparing his lesson for class, John Taylor allows students time to work on an assignment. Mr. Taylor taught U.S. History, Civics, International Relations and Economics.

During the first weeks of school, when the temperatures were high outside, students found Study Hall in room 150 a "cool" place to be. This large room was one of the few air conditioned spots in the building.

After school, on Sept. 12, Senior Robin Goodbar prepares to enter the watermelon eating contest at the Senior Watermelon Bust.

D.C. Pride Is Back

Returned From the Past in Top Form

The Pride Is Back . . . The Pride is saying "I'm from Decatur," in the team effort, in being the best, is back.

But it didn't return by itself. No, it needed a push of power, of spirit, and of commitment. The five administrators, ninety faculty members, and 1500 students that share the school displayed this spirit and commitment. This was shown by the increase in club enrollment, extracurricular activities, and crowd participation.

"I think there is a lot more spirit and support this year, especially for the football team," said Junior Theresa Camp. "This Homecoming is the best one we've had. The activities were well organized and supported by the students. The night that everyone stayed after school to decorate the halls, it was amazing to watch so many students working together, showing real pride in their school, and having fun," stated Ms. Diana Laybold.

The old attitudes were not only removed but replaced by fresh ideas and renewed attitudes full of pride. "People are much more friendly. We seem to be in a better mood all the time," said senior Nichole Croft. Pride that set the mood for academic excellence, for athletic strength, and for extracurricular participation is back. The pride of DC is back and it's here to stay.

Ready to conquer the Beast, Seniors Dana Montgomery, Stephanie Gray, Mike Burner, Cindy Wand, Tonia Dahl, and Jenny Whitlow wait in line at Kings Island. The senior Kings Island trip was on September 14.

Doing an assignment in U.S. History, Junior Jeff Wycoff completes his homework. All juniors were required to take U.S. History.

The Spirit of Decatur Returns

D.C. pride shines through as students show their spirit for the football team at a pep session. The rallies usually occurred during 7th period on Fridays.

You can't see it but you can feel it. D.C. spirit. Spirit of the team. Spirit of the school.

In August the renewed school filled up with bright colors and students' voices. Spirit shone all around the school as summers were discussed and plans for the school year were made. These included things from trying out for the talent show to attending a sports event.

Many students were especially excited about the football season. It was the first time Decatur Central Hawks had played in the Hoosier Dome. Senior Steve Henry said, "There was more support and spirit. This year seemed different."

D.C. students have shown their spirit in different ways. First, students have shown their spirit by the way they dressed. On football, basketball, and other eventful days, students wore blue & gold colors to boost the spirit. Second, they have shown spirit by participating at the pep rallies.

What has all of this proved?

The pride is back at Decatur Central.

Sophomore Sean Ridge, along with the Jazz Band, sets the beat for the pep session.

Cherish These Moments Forever

dinner, dancing, pictures, memories, good times

The prom, held on May 31, 1986, in the White River Ballroom at the Convention Center, proved to be a memorable evening for all who attended.

"We had dinner at his house; it was nice. We could talk and we were by ourselves. I liked that better."

Cheryl Regan

"We ate at the Wharf and then went to the prom. We walked downtown for awhile but I felt funny, as if everybody was watching."

Chris Grizzel

"Before the prom we ate at the Olive Garden. Then we went into the Convention Center and walked around and talked to other people who were as nervous as we were. Wayne and I had a really nice time at the prom."

Theresa Smith

"I went to the prom with John James. We got our pictures taken together and danced, which was pretty fun."

Michelle McCloud

"I liked the band in the wrestling room at postprom—they played popular songs that you hear on the radio. We ate pizza while watching the relay races."

Jen Lydick

"I didn't go to the prom, but I went to the postprom. The auction was 'funnest' part."

Brian Williams

"We went to the Velvet Turtle and the food was very good but it cost quite a bit. Then we went to the prom. The prom wasn't that great; there weren't enough things happening—you just sat there or danced. Afterwards we went on a carriage ride and then on to postprom. The next morning we went to Brown County and spent the day."

Bobby Anglea

"Basically I must say it was an incredibly decent evening."

Ted Kuroiwa

Being positioned for pictures are Larry Milholland and Teresa Durham. Pictures were offered to all those who attended the prom.

Kim Watson and Tim Docherty, after being crowned King and Queen, follow tradition and dance to the theme song "Cherish."

"I went to the prom with Bob Finchum. We ate dinner at the Velvet Turtle and it was a very exciting evening. After the prom we went to the postprom and had a real good time."

Prince and Princess of the prom, Jim Waites and Stephanie Randall, proudly pose after being crowned. The princess and queen received roses along with their crowns.

Candidates for the Royal Court were Kim Watson, Sherri Pierce, Dawn Seller, Robin Gatheridge, Robbie Richards, Tim Docherty, David Millis, and Bob Carr.

Seniors Steve Rawlins and Wayne Ibaugh head for home. Students obtained parking permits at the beginning of the year.

Juniors Leroy Williams and Scott Purdue converse before a cross country practice. Many members of fall sports teams kept their athletic equipment in their cars because of the lack of lockers.

Little Red Corvette—Dream?

Cars: more than merely a dream, cars proved to be a necessity to many DC students as a symbol of independence.

Porsches, Jaguars, and Lamborghinis—these were a few of the cars students desired.

While students were busy with their books, they still didn't forget the material things in life. "I would like to own a red Mazda Rx 7 or a black Toyota truck," stated Senior Gena Spencer.

Even people who owned their own cars wanted the finer cars of the world. "I would want a 1987 Z 24, cruise blue with black interior; but right now I have a silver, maroon and black pinstripe 18 I Renault," stated Senior Terry Bates.

While many students had their own cars, others who didn't found difficulty in transportation. "It is hard for me to get around. Every time I want to go somewhere, I have to depend on my brother, my friends, or my parents," said Junior Missy Burner. Sophomore David Zachery added, "I get around mostly by my friends and my bike."

The car of the future seemed to be a little out of the ordinary, but not too much different from the car of today. Sophomore Letta Neely said, "If I could have a car in the future, it would be purple with black interior, doors like wings, a computer in it that cooks, and automatic steering."

All things considered, no matter what color, model, or what gadgets it comes equipped with, cars will always be the main mode of transportation.

"The hardest thing about having my own car is not only paying for it, but also, seeing a wreck, and thinking it could've been me and my car," said Senior Kelly Frye.

Dorothy and the Scarecrow are puzzled by the rusted Tinman (Paul Nicely), who is begging to have his jaw oiled so he can talk. The Tinman joined the group on their journey to Oz in order to get a heart from the Wizard.

Dorothy (Jocklene Dixon) and the Scarecrow (Brett Carroll) are following the yellow brick road to Oz to see the Wizard (Jeff Boozer). Brett and Jocklene are active members of the choir department.

In Kansas, Huck advises Dorothy.

The Cowardly Lion fears the journey.

The Wicked Witch has failed again.

"There's no place like home . . ."

Dorothy, accompanied by her dog Toto, visits with the Munchkins in the Merry Old Land of Oz. The Munchkins helped Dorothy and her friends prepare to see the Wizard.

Off to See the Wizard

Ding, Dong, the Witch Is Dead!

Students in the music and drama departments at Decatur Central journeyed together through song and dance to the "Merry Old Land of Oz" in the musical The Wizard of Oz.

Choral director Jena Jones, drama director Kathleen Hollibaugh, and orchestra director Lisa Cloncs all put in long hours of hard work in order to make this difficult musical a success.

"The week of the performances we were at school until 11:00 every night. The long hours and three performances led to a very entertaining show," commented Miss Cloncs.

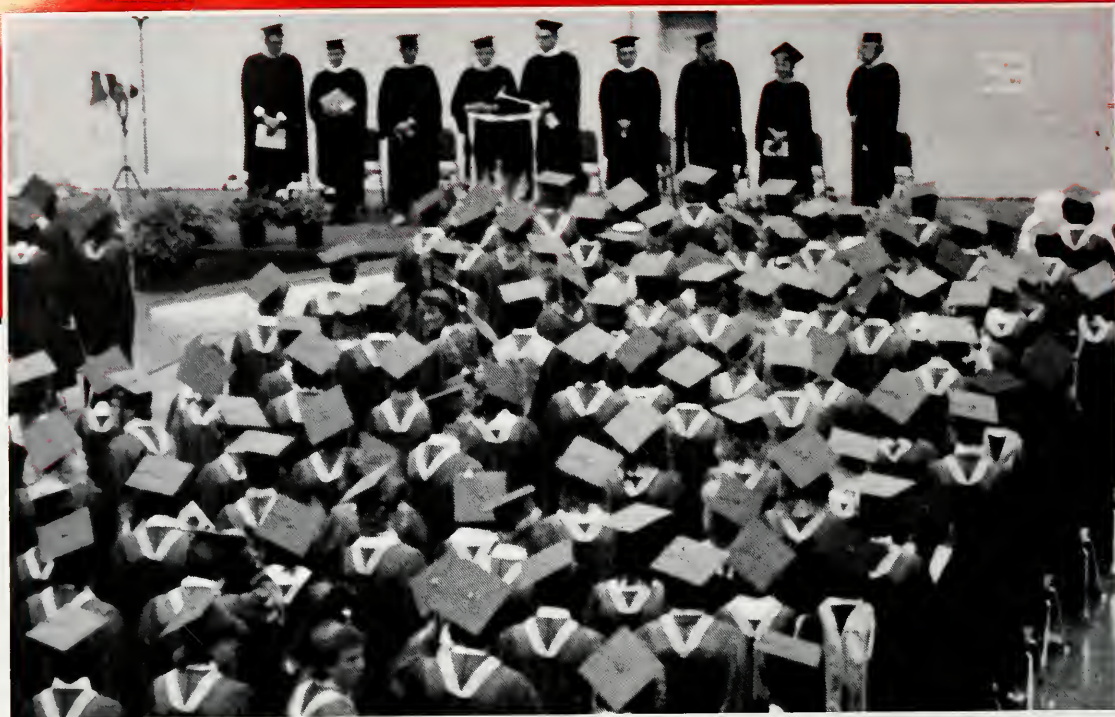

Great detail went into the special effects of the production.

"A lot of times it's hard to do a show with a lot of special effects and make them work. Luckily we had a technical crew who could pull everything off successfully," stated Miss Hollibaugh.

Lighting and sound techniques were a major part of the effectiveness of the musical. A scrim, a screen that was painted over and backlit, was used for the shadowed crystal ball illusion; a mask was designed to represent the Great Wizard of Oz as well as a microphone for his voice; dry ice created the evil effect of the wicked witch's brewing pot.

After April 18-19, the work was finished. The performances were done and the students now went back to the land of Decatur and school work, but not without memories of the adventure to the Land of Oz.

The graduates take their last stand together before the graduation ceremony.

Along with being Valedictorian of his Senior Class, Michael Bowden was in Latin Club for four years, Model UN for one year, on the Brain Game for three years, and in National Honor Society for three years.

As well as being Salutatorian of her Senior Class, Gigi McChord was in Band for four years, drama for one year, Jazz Band for four years, and National Honor Society for three years.

The family and friends of the graduates sit eagerly as they wait for that special moment when the names are called to receive diplomas.

One last gathering faced students of the class of 1986 as they prepared for the future: their graduation ceremony. Memories of high school events and pictures of future plans filled the minds of many seniors.

The ceremony reflected different emotions. Feelings of anticipation, excitement, freedom, and even sadness were expressed by laughter as well as tears.

The ceremony was originally to be held outside on the football field; due to inappropriate weather it was moved to the gymnasium.

Although the skies were gray outdoors, the gym was filled with colorful balloons and decorations. The band led the way for the graduating class with "Pomp and Circumstance," and the choir sang "Friends".

It was an emotional evening for everyone—graduates and family, one that will always be remembered.

After a 12-year wait, Diana Angermier walks up to receive her diploma. This is the final reward as well as a turning point in life.

The crowd waited as principal Brad Eshelman called out the graduates' names one by one.

A Constantly Changing City

We've Been Workin' on the Railroad . . .

Many changes have taken place in downtown Indianapolis over the past few years. Construction sites and work crews became a popular sight throughout the city. The three-year project of renovating an old train station cost over 50.6 million dollars. Union Station, known earlier as Union Depot, first opened on September 29, 1853. The station reopened on April 26, 1986, with 47 stores, 26 restaurants, and 11 night-clubs. Union Station occupies 750,000 sq. ft. of land.

Thirty-nine Jackson Place seemed the place to be on the night of the grand opening. Miss Hollibaugh, a teacher at Decatur Central, commented, "The opening was very elegant. A lot of outstanding people in the community attended and it was nice to be included."

Another big addition to downtown Indianapolis was the Hoosier Dome. The Dome opened

"Union Station is a neat and fun place to walk around and hang-out. The shops and places to eat are really neat." Kara Ogle

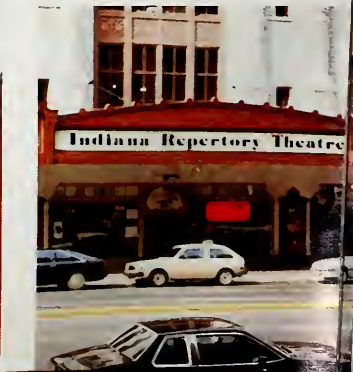

Located on 140 W. Washington, the Indiana Repertory Theatre provides entertainment in three different theatres.

in May of 1984 with a construction cost of $77 million, one of the most expensive costs for the city. Since the opening many events have taken place in the Dome: Colts games, auto shows, band contests, and IHSAA football games, including the DC vs. Pike game on September 20. "Playing in the Dome was like a step out of reality. With all of the fans screaming and shouting, it was just like the pros," commented Senior player Mike Schmitt. Seating 63,000 people in 150,000 square feet, the Hoosier Dome is one of the top ten facilities nationally for total available space.

Indianapolis is a growing city in size and prominence. There are many places to visit: museums, stores, theaters, and hotels. These places and more make Indianapolis an interesting city to live in.

"The stores in Claypool court are so nice. They have just about anything you would want from stuffed animals to a big chocolate chip cookie." Nichole Croft

Downtown tours by horse and buggy are made possible by Yellow Rose Carriages Inc. "We sat back and the ride was fairly good; also the scenery was nice. Over all it was a decent time." Bobby Anglea Parking has always been a problem in the downtown area. To accommodate this, a parking garage and surface lot consisting of 900 spaces are available.

Crowns, Dates, Spirit . . . Rain?

The rain came.

The Giants came.

But the spirit and pride shown in the week before proved nothing could ruin the Hawk's Homecoming against the Giants, on October 3rd.

"Despite the rain and the loss, this Homecoming was my best ever. The spirit was so much greater this year, that the problems didn't matter. I think Decatur is taking on a new attitude," said Junior Kelly Cole.

The week began with dress-up days. Wednesday was "Sweats" day. On the next day the students were allowed to break the dress code and wear Bermuda shorts. Participants were not only students but some faculty members, including Principal Brad Eshelman.

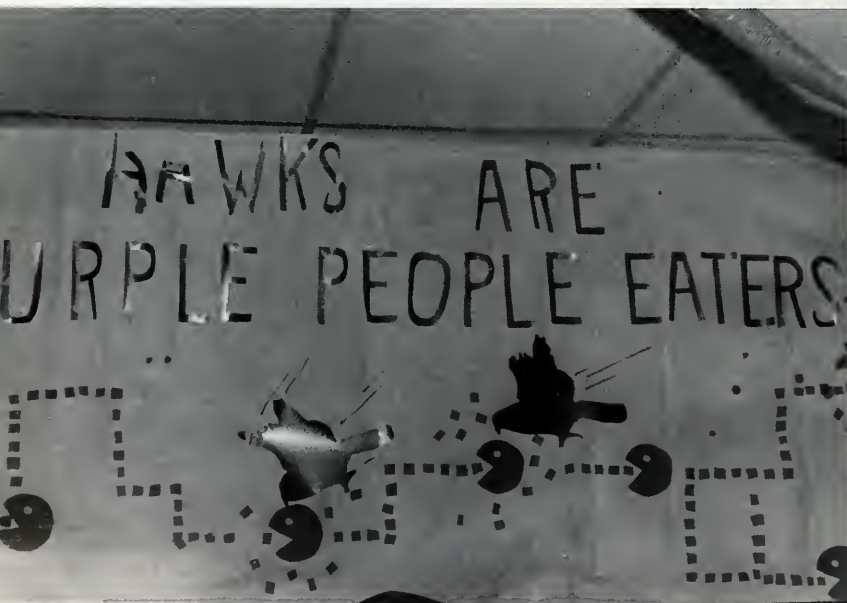

Friday was the traditional Blue and Gold Day. The students wore their letter sweaters or blue and gold colors to help prepare for the game. Halls were decorated with class pride and many sayings like "We hate purple."

At 2:30 the Hawks piled into the gymnasium for a pep session. During the pep session the Homecoming Prince and Princess court was announced. For the Junior class Brian Harrington and Debbie Tut-sie were chosen to reign. Sophomores Tom Waites and Sonja

Freeman, and Freshmen Lonnie Bullins and Tracy Clevenger were crowned.

Waiting for the announcement were Senior King and Queen candidates Jeff Huffman, Todd Walker, Mike Burner, Jeff Hawkins, Angel Hembree, Michelle Couch, Stephanie Gray, and Stephanie Randell. Half-time was highlighted by the crowning of Seniors Mike Burner and Stephanie Gray as King and Queen. "Mike and I really appreciated all the support we got during halftime; it was one of the happiest times of our Senior year!" The Circle City Covette Club made an appearance to chauffeur the candidates around the track in the winning parade.

The game ended without a victory, yet spirit and pride didn't leave when the Giants did. No, D.C. spirit stayed only to prove the Pride is Back.

The Hall Decorating tradition came to a peak this year with an increase in participation. The halls were filled with many banners showing class pride and Hawk spirit.

Awaiting the crowning of King and Queen are Senior candidates Todd Walker and Michelle Couch. Todd was an active member of the basketball team, while Michelle has cheered Varsity for two years.

After being crowned King and Queen, Seniors Mike Burner and Stephanie Grey make a trip around the track.

Parading around the track at halftime are car decoration winners Seniors Jocklene Dixon and Brett Carroll.

The Prince and Princess of each class were announced in the pep session. For the Junior Class, Debbie Tutsie and Brian Harrington; Sophomore Class Sonja Freeman and Tom Waites; Freshman Class, Tracy Clevenger and Lonnie Bullins.

Awaiting the critical decision are Queen and King candidates for the Senior Class Stephanie Grey, Mike Burner, Angel Hembree, Jeff Huffman, Stephanie Randall, Jeff Hawkins, Michelle Couch and Todd Walker.

On the day before Christmas break, Santa (Mr. Furniss) makes a trip through the cafeteria. Mr. Furniss also ended the daily announcements with saying, "Let's be good to each other."

Teddy bears played an important role under Christmas trees in 1986. There were many different types of bears including the Lazarus bear, Blocks bear, and the traditional Care Bears.

"On Valentine's Day I was really surprised when my boyfriend Michael gave me roses. That really made my Valentine's Day special!" commented Junior Jill Green.

Sporting a Halloween mask, Senior Mark Dennis stops in the hall between classes to scare fellow classmates.

Season's Greetings to All

Tis the Season to Celebrate Holidays

Holidays are an unavoidable part of everyone's year. The one looked forward to most was Christmas. "I like Christmas because I get to go shopping for gifts for my family and friends. All of my family spends Christmas Day together," commented senior Jenny Whitlow. Many students love Christmas because of all the gifts they receive from family and friends. "I like opening all the presents, especially the big ones," said Senior Jackie Meadows. Junior Gina Mills remembers her most favorite present as being a three-speed bicycle. "It had my name on it. I thought I was a big shot." Students are also glad to see Christmas arrive because it brings with it a two-week break from school.

Hearts are struck by Cupid's arrow on Valentine's Day. On this day couples celebrate their love for one another. Girls receive roses, candy, and stuffed animals from their boyfriends. Guys often receive helium balloons saying "I love you," gold chains, and stuffed animals. "I like Valentine's Day because my boyfriend and I go out to dinner and he usually buys me a dozen roses," stated one student.

Many students also like Thanksgiving Day. Some students travel out of town to visit with relatives in other states. "I went to Iowa with my family to visit my grandparents. I haven't seen them for quite a while and we had a lot of fun," said Junior Shannon Greve. Thanksgiving is not only spending time with relatives but also preparing a large dinner.

Halloween is not as important to teenagers as it is to younger kids. Still students consider Halloween not to be forgotten. "I got to work at Scream in the Dark. It was fun trying to scare all the people," stated Senior Tracy Murriell.

When asked, drama teacher Miss Kathleen Hollibaugh said her favorite holiday was Easter "because it means that spring is on the way and school is almost over!"

A small Christmas tree decorates the main office. There were many decorations throughout the school and in the classrooms.

You Can't Take It with You

Plays, Snakes, Ballet Dancing, and Fireworks

The fall play, You Can't Take It With You, brought new changes and attitudes to Decatur's stage. Junior Kelly Cole stated, "I liked the back stage spirit; it was a lot stronger than past years'. People got closer and it made the show go better."

The play involved a family, the Sycamores, consisting of five members, a few friends, and a couple of extras, all having a unique trait. For example, the grandfather thrived on going to commencements and collecting snakes. The mother, Penny, liked to write plays, only because a typewriter was delivered to her house by mistake. Essie, the ballet dancer, after studying for only eight years, was still clumsy. Other members of the family were the daughter, Alice, who was the only normal member of the family; the father, Paul, whose hobby was making fireworks; Paul's friend, Mr. DePinna, who delivered ice eight years before and just stayed; and Essie's husband, Ed, who came to dinner one night and also just stayed.

Senior Trudi Brown commented that "it was different than any other play Decatur has done before. Each character was unique and they all had their limelight."

The show was directed by Miss Kathleen Hollibaugh, student director Julie Jackson, with Missy Burner, assistant student director, and Debbie Jones, prompter.

Mr. Ron Richardson, a teacher at D.C., stated that he thought You Can't Take It With You was one of the best plays done at Decatur in twelve years. He added, "Miss Hollibaugh did a super job of organizing the play and getting everything to fall in place."

Senior Julie Jackson said, "I felt that considering the audience response, the play was successful. We overcame a lot of obstacles and had three smooth performances."

Grandpa (Heather White) tells the family about the commencement he saw that morning at Columbia.

Essie Carmichael (Gina Bucho) practices her dancing lessons before her instructor, Mr. Kolenkhov (Shawn Carnes) arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. Sycamore (Chris Fitzpatrick and Jennifer Sparks) help Tony (Kelly Cole) make himself at home while he waits for Alice (Melodie Prilliman) to get ready for their date.

Rheba (Sabreena Williams) tells Ed (Ric Hudnall) what's planned for dinner so he can print the menu on his printing press.

Mr. Sycamore (Chris Fitzpatrick) and Donald (DeMarcus Collins) discuss the fireworks.

Goldenaires Are "Feelin' Good"

"Goldenaires is a group of twenty-eight very talented and ambitious students that I am very anxious to work with. I have high expectations of this group as a whole, and the level at which they can perform. I am looking forward to a year of hard work and success," stated new choral director Mrs. Susan Denney.

Goldenaires had a new change in their fall show. Instead of performing by themselves, they were accompanied by the "Jazz Connection '87." The show, entitled "Jazz Preview," lasted about an hour and a half and supplied the audience with musical song and dance routines.

After finishing the fall show, Goldenaires immediately started work on the Christmas concert. In this show they did a variety of songs including "Let's Sing a Song About Christmas," "Christmas is Still the Best Time of Year," and

"Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," which featured hand movements as well as words.

Aside from local concerts, the group participated in contests in which they received point scores and sometimes trophies or plaques. Often after-school rehearsals were scheduled in order to prepare for these shows. For example, in January the group rehearsed extra hours to prepare for Center Grove.

Progression Makes for a Successful Year

Pizzazz. Diversity. Style. These words describe the Decatur Central Jazz Connection '87. After adapting to a new band director last year, the band has progressed greatly, according to its director Miss Lisa Cloncs.

"The group is much easier to work with. They're very hard workers."

The members of the band also seem to think that the band has changed greatly.

"We've grown up a lot musically. We have great potential," said Junior Lydia Cook, who plays the baritone ("bari") saxophone in the band.

The band uses its class time in two ways. The first is getting ready for performances and the second is working on improvisations, which are the solo acts that the members perform by themselves. The band performed in the fall show with the Goldenaires. Also, the band performed at three basketball games, a Christmas concert, and a few spring shows. They also participated in some jazz festivals.

The Jazz Connection does not rely on any "special effects." The music itself is concentrated on more heavily. The sections of the band which provide music are rhythm, saxophone, and trumpet.

The rhythm section is the backbone of the band. It provides the beat for the others to follow. The saxophone section provides the tone. The trumpet section is considered the leader of the band.

Senior Matt Wagner, who plays in the percussion section, believes some of the sections are emphasized more. "It's more brass section oriented and it's a better band."

The band's efforts this year can be summed up by a statement made by the director: "They are constantly moving forward and improving their own abilities and the total group."

The trumpet section practices during class. Stated section leader Junior Dan Hauger, "The band has more confidence than last year."

Getting ready for an upcoming performance, Miss Cloncs directs the band in a piece.

Students start to prepare for a lab in chemistry. Lab partners were assigned at the beginning of the year.

During study hall students type on the extra typewriters in the library.

Homework, Homework

Give me a break!!

Although homework seemed to be a dreaded part of everyone's school day, some classes were worse than others.

Math students, for example, almost always had homework. When something new was learned, practice problems were assigned.

Classes that especially required spending time with books (and big books too!) were advanced science courses, like Chemistry and Physics. Senior Kari Owens commented, "Carrying all the books makes you strong! It seems like I either have no homework or a bunch of homework."

Even students taking business classes were required to do homework. Senior Julie Jackson said, "We have assignments nearly every night in order to memorize our words."

So, although most teachers assigned homework, some classes were more demanding.

Spell Bowl

A new event

"Spell 'Whooping cough'."

"Spell 'Raucous'."

On October 16, 1986, Decatur Central hosted a Spell Bowl Competition. This was the first year for D.C. to have a Spell Bowl team. The team members were Seniors Paula Raines, Cheryl Regan, Gary Farney, and Todd Smith; Juniors Lynne Raines, Dawna Clark, John Whitmore, Terry Obermeyer and Shelette Alexander; and Freshmen Nancy Saff and Desiree McKinney. Statewide, 120 schools participated; six of these schools competed at D.C. They were Decatur Central, Center Grove, Franklin Central, Greenwood, Perry Meridian, and Southport. The contest was sponsored by Academic Competition for Excellence.

In the Spell Bowl Competition, Perry Meridian won Class One division and Plainfield won the Class Two division. The highest score was achieved by Plainfield, with 75 out of 80.

English: A Four Year Course

The same thing year after year

Even though each year in English essentially the same types of literature are studied, the department tried to vary what was read.

Throughout the four-year English course students must read a few short stories, poems, and novels. Each year, though, students study a major work of literature.

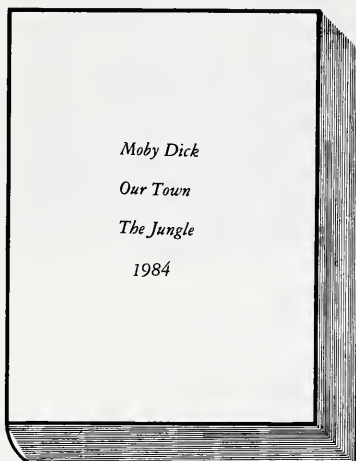

During the freshman year, students read and studied Romeo and Juliet by William Shakespeare. A video tape of this was also seen.

The sophomore English classes concentrated on Shakespeare's Julius Caesar. A video tape of this was seen also. "English can be fun, but there's some hard work especially book reports, term papers, and reading all the short stories," stated Sophomore David Jones.

Junior English was a little different. Students studied several kinds of writing from the Colonial era through the Realism era. This included reading several novels, an almanac, travel journals and poetry. "Studying all the different eras is a change from studying just one certain time period," one student stated.

Senior English is a different program. College Study and Writing Skills, each one semester, were offered to college-bound seniors interested in preparing for the future. Also offered were the normal grammar and literature semesters.

Although English sometimes seemed like the same old thing, there was a difference!

Freshman Troy Sunler hunts through his book for a piece of paper. Often class time was devoted to homework.

Tools of the Trade

"Do you have a pencil?"

"What for?"

"I have a math test this period."

Many students started math class with these lines. Pencils were only one of the many required materials for math classes.

For example, in geometry, students used such instruments as protractors, straight edges, and compasses. These were used to draw geometric shapes, measure angles, and construct triangles. For advanced math classes, a scientific calculator was needed to help out with trigonometry functions such as sine, cosine, and tangent.

There were after-school help sessions for students who needed assistance with problems. Sophomore Joe Needham said, "The sessions help you understand what the chapter is about." The help sessions usually lasted about one hour.

Once a month a math league contest was held. The contests lasted about one-half hour after school. Anyone qualified for the contests. The contests were held statewide and students were ranked according to their scores; prizes were awarded to top winners.

Media Are the Students' 'Voice'

The media of Decatur Central were the voices of the students. Students could purchase the school newspaper (The Outlook), which was published bi-weekly. Students also purchased the school yearbook (Hawkeye); over 900 copies were sold. Another method of communication at Decatur was D.C. Magazine, which aired every Wednesday and Friday on Indianapolis Cablevision. This was the students' way of finding out what was going on at D.C. The Outlook staff made many changes from the year before. One reason for the changes was that the graduating class had taken almost all of the staff the year before. "This was hard for all of the new staff, but we worked hard and learned a lot, producing a much improved paper," said Nichole Croft, Editor-in-Chief of The Outlook.

The Hawkeye was also faced with inexperienced staff members. "We had a basically new staff, with many underclassmen. A major task throughout the year, aside from meeting deadlines and putting the book together, was teaching everyone the policies so they would know for the next year," said Asst. Editor of the Hawkeye, Senior Debbie Jones.

D.C. Magazine also had to work to produce a 30-minute show every week. Each student had to do his/her part for the show to come together weekly. There were fifteen students in D.C. Magazine. For every nine-week grading period each had an assigned role, such as Director-Producer or Fashion World Reporter and they did 9 to 10 stories for the role. When that grading period was over, the students were assigned to different positions.

Row 3—Debbie Jones, Shannon Ilich, Steven Henry, Brett Carroll, Tara Earl, Becky Campbell. Row 4—Mrs. Haflich, Michelle Cavarrubio, Beverly Randolph, Tracy Ballard, J'Lynn Mayes.

A Door to Your Mind

Psychology was a very unique class. It assisted those who took it to better deal with the things around them. Psychology classes had discussions over world problems, giving opinions and talking about issues of the day. Sometimes an entire class period would be given to an open class discussion.

Many subjects of debate came from the movies shown in class on teen suicide, anorexia, sexual abuse, missing children, and nuclear war.

The movie about anorexia was about a girl named Casey who struggled with self-esteem and as a result ended up with this emotional disease, anorexia. The students discussed whether Casey's parent's did the right thing and also what could have been done differently to resolve the situation.

The movie Adam revealed the pain and defeat that Adam's parents felt when their little boy was abducted and murdered. This movie brought awareness to America about the dangers of abduction. It also brought forth controversial issues of where the state and law should get involved in these cases.

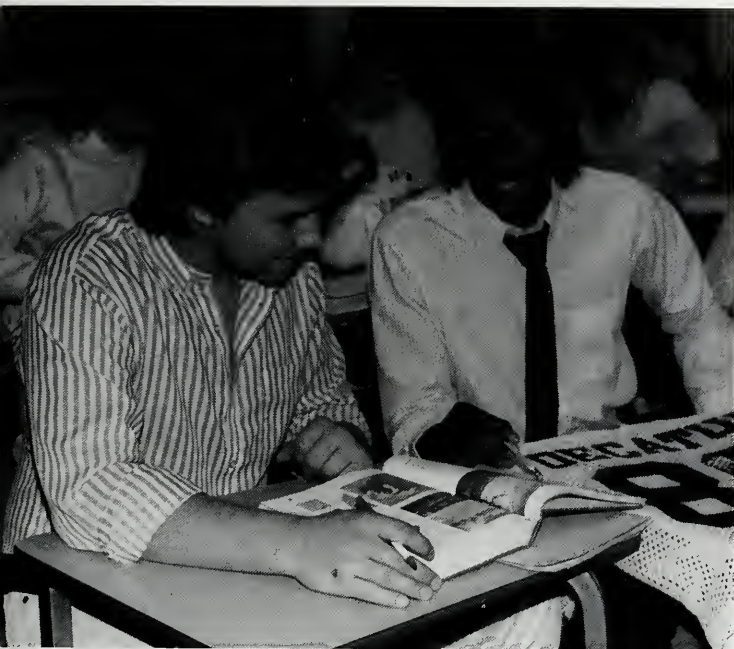

These nationwide issues discussed were intriguing interest-holders for the class. As Senior Debbie Farley stated, "It's a fun class and Mr. Rather makes the class really interesting."

Discussing the personal analysis questions which are part of the experiment, Mr. Rather argues the answers given.

Reading intently, Senior Trudi Brown works on her open-book Psychology test. Students have to complete an open book test for each chapter, as a study aid.

Juniors Ron Watts and Doug Whitlow talk about their reading assignment in Social Studies to prepare for the in-class discussion later.

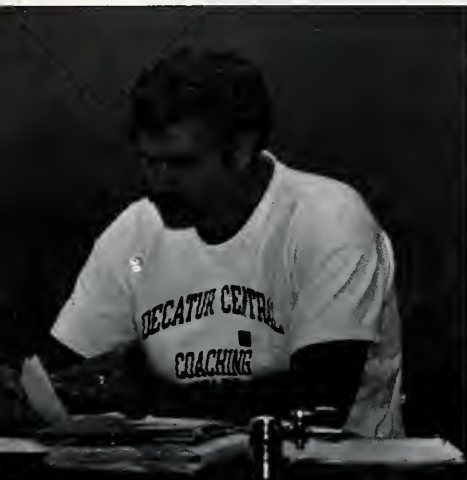

In Psychology, students often discuss the experiments which are given as projects. Classes do about two experiments every nine weeks.

Given time in class to study for their U.S. History test, Juniors read quietly.

Mr. Molby takes attendance before he begins his class. Mr. Molby taught Physical Science and Biology classes.

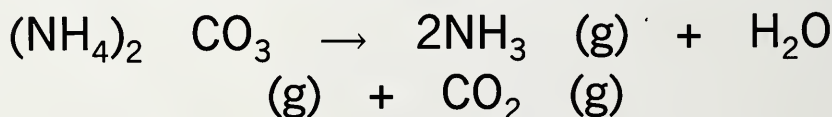

Mrs. Farris assists some of the students in an experiment done in class. Mrs. Farris was one of the several new teachers at D.C.

Experiment in the science field

Test your creativity as well as your interest

"Get your specimen dissection pan, and razor blade. This is frog dissection day."

This statement has been a part of many lives while students were in Biology. Science was a required course for students at D.C. A great part of science was the experiments done in class.

"Today we did an experiment on heat. I thought it was kind of weird and confusing, but it still was fun," stated Freshman Nicole Hodges.

While much of science was the experiments done in class, some of it involved time outside of class.

"Chemistry 1 and 2 is hard, but it is fun. You have to remember a lot of facts about certain equations and experiments. Plus, there isn't a lot of homework, just a lot of studying," said Sophomore Kyle Ahnafield.

In addition to the science classes that were offered at D.C., there was a science fair scheduled for the year. Students in college prep. biology classes, second year biology, all levels of chemistry, and physics classes were asked to present projects for the fair. Other classes could participate in the fair as an option.

"We want to encourage science students to learn how to use the investigative approach to study natural phenomenon," replied the science department chairman,

Mrs. Judy Faatz. The tentative date for the fair was February 6 and anywhere from two to three hundred projects should be presented. The project topics ranged from biological experiment, to psychological experiments.

Although science was considered a difficult course by some, it was important to students who wanted to enter college or consider it as a future. As stated by Senior Bev Randolph, "Chemistry is a challenging course that will help you in college and let you know in advance if you can handle it or not as a future career."

Before class, sophomore Tom Waites and Junior Roger Estes, work on an experiment that is due. Some experiments took as many as two days to complete.

Beyond the Classroom

The work extended beyond the classroom in the arts department at Decatur. Every year Mr. Bruce Pearce and Mrs. Rhonda Davis-Kelsay look for possible projects and drawings to enter in the contests for competition against other schools.

Some of the contests entered were the Preludes, sponsored by the Children's Museum, the Scholastic Art Awards Show, sponsored by L. S. Ayres, and the 500 Festival Art Show. D.C. students also entered several other contests, such as the Hoosier Motor Club log contest.

These contests limit entries based on the number of students enrolled in Art. Mr. Pearce stated that many more students were interested in these contests than in past years.

Many different types of work could be submitted in these contests. Drawings, paintings, pastels, and pen and ink drawings represented Decatur at the contests. Portfolios and 3-D crafts could also be submitted.

In past years several D.C. students earned awards and scholastic credits with art schools.

Preparing their work for the Ayres show, Sophomores Cathy Mitchell and Chris Farnsley mat their drawings. All the drawing work submitted to the contest needed to be matted.

Applying pressure to the clay, Junior Chris Ikemire prepares the clay to be molded. Before molding the clay needs to be perfectly round or the piece will come out lopsided.

Making an assortment box for Mrs. Davis-Kelsay, Senior Mike Szakel glues the pieces together. The students in 3-D crafts create many different objects of art.

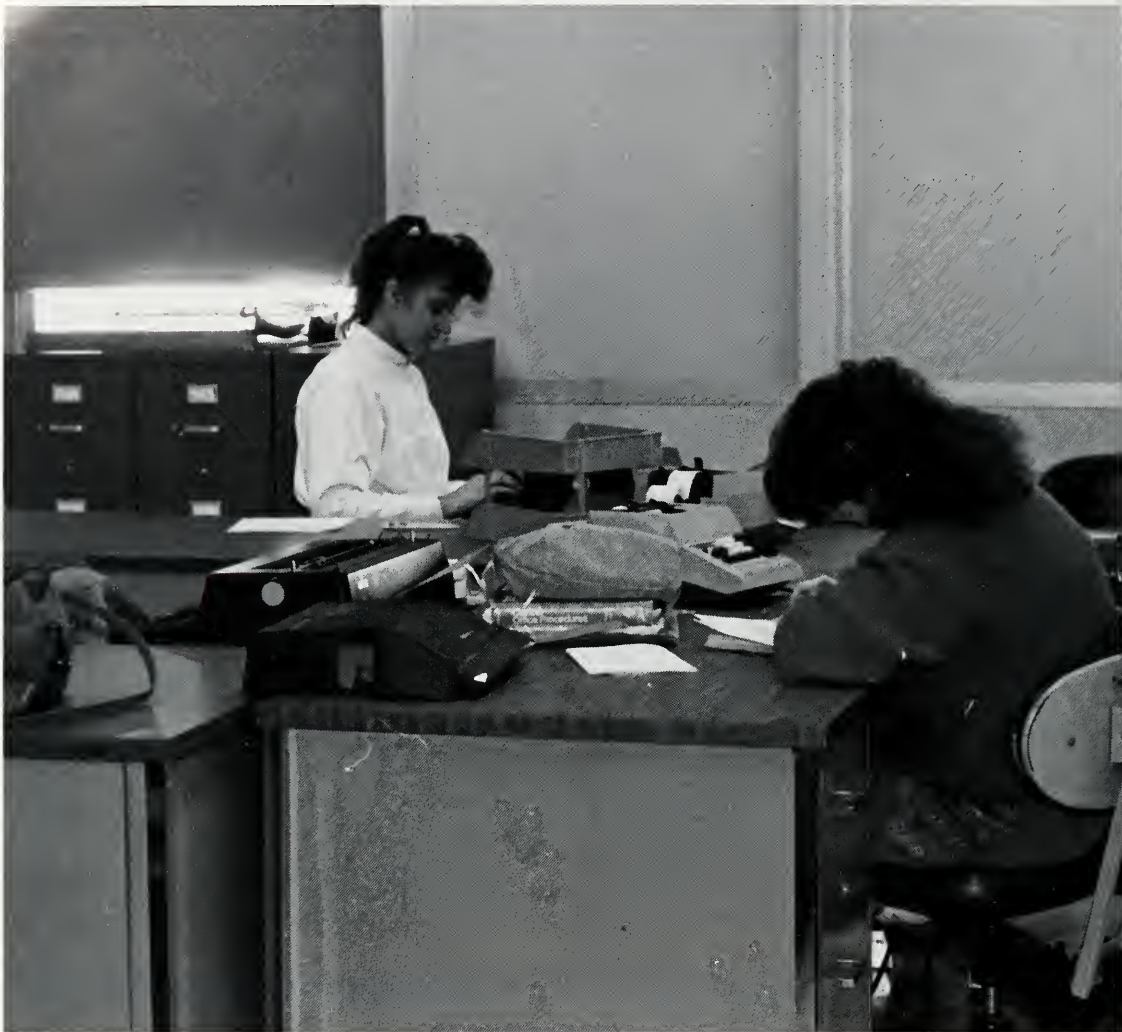

Packaging his picture for the Ayres Contest, Senior Ric Hudnall handles it with care. Many drawings and paintings are entered in the Ayres Show every year.

Clubs Minding Their Own Business

Learning how to take dictation at sixty words per minute and learning the general practices of business were some of the skills the Business department had to offer. The department had a variety of courses which anyone interested in business could become involved in. There were also two clubs at D.C. which people interested in business could join.

The Office Education Association was a club that joined students together in grades 10 through 12 who wanted to know more about the business world.

OEA is a national club offered at any high school with a vocational office class. Through OEA, students can listen to different speakers, visit businesses around the city, win scholarships, and enter state, local, and national contests, the district contest was held February 7 with D.C. students competing in the areas such as Administrative Applications and Computer Graphics.

OEA had thirty members with nineteen of those members belonging to IOL (Intensive Office Lab). The IOL students were required to join as a part of the class. There is also another advantage to the club, stated sponsor Diana McKowen. "Students in OEA have an opportunity to become district officers for OEA."

Another club for business students at D.C.H.S. was DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America.) The club is a nationwide student organization that promotes business leadership development in school. DECA, a student activity that relates to marketing, merchandising, and management, provides an opportunity for personal growth as well as growth in business.

DECA also offers a competition for students as well as $60,000 in scholarships. Senior Marketing students were released from school early so that they could go to work. Several of these students' employers were offering scholarships to them.

Students who were involved in DECA were also given a chance for travel. Each year the national DECA competition is held in a popular U.S. city. This is a one-week event during March. This year it was held in New Orleans. Speaking of DECA as a whole, Sponsor Mr. Larry Brich remarked "DECA is an experience."

The Business department offered valuable skills that could be used outside of the classroom. The clubs in the department just reinforced these skills for future careers.

New Teacher Makes Changes

The Choir department went through several changes when the new director, Dick Laughlin, resigned because of health problems. Mrs. Denney, a recent Ball State University graduate, took his place at the end of October. Mrs. Denney came to Decatur with a new style of teaching music. She taught new warm-up exercises and used new techniques for teaching music.

"Mrs. Denney is different because she lets you know her as a person which is unusual. She lets her students become her friends. Most of the time they're willing to work for her like they wouldn't if they had been told by another teacher. Mrs. Denney is interesting and talented, and she makes choir a lot of fun. She has brought a lot to the Decatur Central choir department," said Sophomore Lori Hubbard.

Warm up to Action

Down, one, two, three, and up

Gym is one of the few classes where one can prove physical ability instead of academic ability. Gym is a class that offers variety and change within the day. It's a time when one can stretch muscles and keep in proper physical condition. Gym is required of all freshmen and sophomores. If one is a junior or a senior, he/she has the option of taking an advanced gym class. Gym usually begins with warm-up stretchings. Some of the units in gym are tennis, swimming, soccer, volleyball, gymnastics, baseball, and basketball. Sophomore Johanna Koffi said, "Gym gives me an opportunity to become more physically fit." "Football was fun, I like it the best." said Freshman Mike Albright.

Say No to Drugs!

This was the first year that Decatur offered a Substance Abuse class. Miss Lisa Cloncs taught it during fifth period. A large part of the class time was spent in group discussion and films. During the first nine weeks self-esteem was taught as well as how to deal with peer pressure. Throughout the rest of the year the class dealt with the actual drugs and what they do to the mind. Much of the grade is determined by class participation. Miss Cloncs said that the class is worthwhile because if the students are at least stopping and thinking then something is being done.

Saying no to drugs can be a very difficult thing to do and this class is definitely a step in the right direction. Even if saying no to drugs isn't a problem for you, the basic knowledge the class offers is beneficial. Chris Newton agreed with that as she said, "Everybody should take this class because people don't know a lot about drugs."

As Miss Cloncs lectures about the dangers of cigarette smoking, several of her students listen.

Mr. Richard Otto shows Sophomore Matt Gaston how to fix the blade on the band saw. Learning how the machines work was another part of the program.

During the first semester of school, many people worked on completing the new rooms for the industrial technology program. The rooms were complete and in use by the end of the school year.

Stressing Concepts

The Industrial Arts department is no longer Industrial Arts. It is now Industrial Technology. The department changed with technology. Instead of the vocational classes which taught individual skills, the students learned the concepts of each field or skill. This covers a wider range, but the material is more general.

The new divisions of the classes were Construction, Transportation, Communication, Manufacturing, and Design. Each of these classes has a two-year advancement program, beginning with an introduction to the class the first semester, and then ending with a more advanced look into the concepts behind each field.

At the beginning of the school year, the Industrial Technology department was still in the process of preparing the rooms for use in the new program. Senior Derek Gates commented, "There were a lot of changes; we didn't do as much, because it wasn't finished, but we did work on the computer more." The construction and installation was finished by January of 1987.

Singles?

The new social event at Decatur Central was the Singles Only club. This club was sponsored by new Home Economics teacher, Miss Nannette Patrick. The club was originally for Juniors and Seniors only, but Miss Patrick said it would later include Freshmen and Sophomores. The Singles Only club was started for the benefit of the students, both guys and girls; they all planned different activities and events in which they wanted to participate. Some activities which they had were, for example, the cookie sale. The club got together and baked cookies to sell as their fund raiser. Another activity which they planned was a trip to Union Station. Miss Patrick was excited about the future of the club when she commented, "I'm fired up to have a social club where students can plan their own activities and learn something in the process: It's a great time!"

Smiling at her results, Freshman, Ruth Ann Olson stirs her soup. Each group had its own kitchen for the cooking classes.

Demonstrating, Mrs. Rose teaches Stacey Williams the correct technique in sewing the seam of her quilt.

Classes differ on higher level

The Foreign Language department moved upstairs for the first time. Another change included new French teacher Karl Nowling teaching first year French. Foreign languages proved to be more difficult as students moved on to higher levels. "Third year French is more difficult because third and fourth year French are together. We work mainly on conversational skills," said Junior Vicki Horrell.

Some selected students took a first-year foreign language in eighth grade at the Junior High. "I feel lucky to be in 3rd year because not many sophomores can be," said Sophomore Jeanie Reagan.

Latin classes were also more difficult in the later years. "Third and fourth year are about the same only we do a different poet each year," said Senior Gary Farney. The Latin Club was also one of the most active clubs. They had meetings, gave parties, and went bowling.

"The flag line has improved since marching season, but we still have a long way to go, but with the determination the kids show, I know they can do well this winter guard season," commented instructor Janet Gilpatrick

While standing at attention the band waits to perform.

A Year of Much Improvement

"The band department at Decatur Central went through many problems the past few years, but with the hard work the band put in this past year, it has made much progress," commented band director Lisa Cloncs.

This year many new things have taken place in the band department at Decatur Central. First semester there was only one band, the marching band. After the first semester the band was divided into two bands—symphonic and concert. This was the first year for DC to hold a "pops" concert. This concert consisted of country, big band, top 40 music and more. Director Lisa Cloncs hoped to appeal more towards students by playing more music they were interested in. In the spring the band competed in ISSMA and went into group I. "There is no comparison between the two years; this year is much improved. The playing ability keeps getting better and better," said Miss Cloncs.

After a few setbacks, Decatur Central again has a Blue Hawk Guard. This year auditions went differently. There were auditions for marching season, and then again in the fall for winter guard. Instructor Janet Gilpatrick felt that open auditions brought in new talent along with a lot of dedication. The guard consisted of 12 flags and five rifles performing a seven-minute, 30-second show.

They were accompanied by three songs, of which the first and third featured flags and rifles and the middle, flags only. The guard attended several contests during February and March. "The show that was written this year is the best one that I've seen in the four years that I've been in it. The group has a lot of potential and I'm excited to see how well we do this year at contests," commented Senior rifle captain Steve Henry.

Band director Lisa Cloncs leads the band in warm-up exercises. Before class begins, the band practices for a few minutes.

Several honor clubs, which had requirements, continued activity throughout the '86-'87 year.

Included in these were National Honor Society, Brain Game, Academic Decathlon, and Student Council.

National Honor Society members had the goal of maintaining a 3.5 grade point average. The Brain Game team and the Academic Decathlon gave students a chance to show off their knowledge. Student Council members and officers had the task of arranging events throughout the year.

Activities at Decatur

Many clubs at Decatur were hobby oriented. Those interested in acting joined the Drama Club, the International Thespian Society, or the Speech team.

Drama Club, sponsored by Miss Kathleen Hollibaugh, put on a fall play; the Thespian Society, also sponsored by Miss Hollibaugh, went to a conference in the spring; the Speech team competed in speech meets throughout the year.

Other activity clubs were Photo Club, Games

Society, and A.V. Club.

After a fumble, Decatur quickly recovers, only to be tackled by a Lawrence Central Bear.

A popular item at Decatur Central was the school jackets. Many students purchased these jackets and had the name of their sport or club on the back.

Sports Entertain Fans

Sports played an important role in the life of D.C. students. There were many ways to participate in the various athletic clubs and teams. Players, managers, and fans received a kind of satisfaction from sports. Basketball seemed to be enjoyable on the court and in the stands. Sophomore player Bobby Berman said, "I like basketball; it's exciting and there's always a lot of action." Another view is from Senior Cheryl Casselman: "I like to watch because it's exciting; you never know what will happen next especially when your team is winning!" An increased amount of student support added excitement to the D.C. teams. "The D.C. basketball team has shown a great team attitude and good team chemistry," said Senior Mark Owens. Managers also helped create more successful season. Senior Paula Raines, manager of the Cross Country team, said she enjoys going to the meets and keeping time. "I know how each member runs and how their race will be." Athletics with an increased amount of school spirit was only one way D.C. proved The Pride Is Back.

Winning Isn't Everything

The 1986 spring athletic schedule added a new dimension with the sport of soccer, which is known for being the number one spectator sport in the world.

Coach Larry Adams lettered 15 players, including one girl, Freshman Shawn Smith. Coach Adams will have 12 returning letter winners.

The winner of the Most Valuable Player Award was Senior Robby Richards, and receiving the Citizenship Award was senior Jim Bullard.

Coach Adams expects twice as many players to go out for the 86-87 season, although there is room for only 22 players, and the school doesn't have the money for a reserve team.

Coach Adams stated, "We ended on a winning strike and we're going to stay on it!"

Senior Robby Richards demonstrates his ability to perform as M.V.P.

Winning has become our style

There was every reason to show D.C. pride in the 1986 men's track team. One of the team's major goals was to end with an undefeated record and that they did. Pery Meridian was thought to be a problem, but our Hawk runners out-raced them. Besides the miraculous dual team record, the Hawks had some surprising finishes in major meets. They finished 3rd in the Southport and Pike relays. They also finished well in the County, Sectionals, and Regionals, proving they could compete with the ranked teams. Leading the way were two seniors, each being able to share the glory in being a state finalist and breaking a school record. Senior Linus Peck became the record holder in the 800 meter and was conference champ. Senior Bob Carr was county champ while holding the discus record. Senior John Hightower also proved his running ability by placing second on the all-time list in the 400 meter. Senior Chuck Brallier pole vaulted, high jumped, and long jumped to help score points. The Most Valuable Player Award went to Linus Peck, who competed in the 1600, 800, and the 1600 relay. The Citizenship Award went to Senior John Hightower. Coach Ted Fisher commented, "I was very proud of the team this year, being able to maintain their undefeated record. But considering that this year's team was very young, while being well-balanced and having depth, next year's team should be even better."

Senior Bob Carr demonstrates his strength by throwing the discus. Bob was one of the fifteen track men who lettered.

"The freshmen were a major factor in this year's women's track team's success," commented Coach Dorothy Dillon. The '86 track team went from 2 wins the year before to a winning season this year. The team proved to be strong in the distance events. The weaknesses were in the 300 hurdles and high jump. Freshmen Amy Kuroiwa and Resa Persons ran hard to win many races. They both won C.S.A.C. and went to state finals. Senior Susan Wenzlick did well in shot and discus. Other runners helping to lead the team to its success were Freshmen Letta

Neely and Sophomore Michelle Parrinello. Also Freshmen Kris Thomas was noted for major improvement. The Most Valuable award went to Amy Kuroiwa and the Citizenship Honor was awarded to Michelle Parrinello. Coach Dillon was very happy with this season's record, but she thinks the '87 team should be as good or better. She is hoping for more sprinters from the freshman class. Track requires a lot of hard work and dedication. Coach Dillon said, "The challenge will not be getting them out, but keeping them out."

Working hard to maintain form and stride, Sophomore Michelle Parrinello races to win her race in an effort to qualify for C.S.A.C. finals.

A Slide to Victory

Ending their season with a record of 14 wins and 8 losses, the varsity softball team of 1986-87 had a very successful year. "I think my girls were very close to their goals, despite the breaks just not falling for us," noted Coach Ann Kuper. "Strong hitting, fielding, and tough practices were the keys to our productive season."

Highlighting their season was being the underdog at the beginning of the season and then going on and beating Center Grove to tie for 2nd place in the Conference. The girls beat Center Grove by a score of 10 to 5; the Trojans later went on to win state.

The Most Valuable Player of the 1986 season was Senior LaDonna Ayres. Receiving the Citizenship Award was Senior Joan Beasley.

Returning letterman to this years team are Shannon Wright, Amey Asher, Kristi Krodell, Diane Roe, and Debbie Tutsie.

A Respectable Season

The 1986 Varsity Baseball team ended its season with 10 wins and 18 losses. Strong hitting and fielding were the keys to the respectable season. "The schedule for Decatur Central is very tough and I thought my players did very well," commented Coach Phil Webster.

Highlighting their season was winning two games in sectionals and then advancing to the finals, only to be beaten by Mooresville Pioneers by a score of 3 to 1.

The Most Valuable Player of the 1986 season was Senior Scott Johnson. Receiving the Citizenship Award was Senior Scott Davis.

The Reserve Baseball team coached by John Taylor ended its season with a record of 5-7. "I expect big things out of the '86 and '87 Varsity Baseball team," stated Coach Webster. "I was real proud of my team; they fought hard, they stuck with it, and played well all season. Despite their injuries," continued Coach Webster.

Girls Shaped Season to a "TEE"

Proud Coach Ends Season with Even Record.

The 1986-87 Girls Varsity Golf team ended its season with a respectable record of an even 7 wins and 7 losses. Coach Don Huffman was very proud of their successful record because they lost 5 senior letter winners from last year's squad. In 1985, the girls golf team had its best season ever, with a team record of 10 wins and only 3 losses, "My girls did a lot better than I would ever have imagined with just one girl returning to the squad," stated Coach Huffman.

Next year, the 1987-88 Varsity Girls Golf team will be receiving 5 letter winners on the squad. They are Juniors: Kara Ogle, Beth Patterson, and Shannon Greve. Janet Miller was the only Sophomore who lettered. Stacy Walker, "an impressive lady golfer," was also the only freshman who lettered on this year's squad.

The Most Valuable Golfer for this year's squad was also the only returning letter winner. This person was Junior Kara Ogle. Freshman Stacy Walker was awarded The Citizenship award. The Most Improved Golfer was Junior Beth Patterson.

"With Junior Kara Ogle returning off the 1985-86 squad, next year looks good with the 5 letter winners and the rest of the squad," added Coach Huffman.

Concentrating on the ball, Sophomore Janet Miller gets ready to swing.

Freshman Danny Millis said, "There were a lot of freshmen on the team that were inexperienced and should do better in the upcoming season." Jeff Huffman commented, "I was very proud and honored to be voted M.V.P."

Showing Youth and Inexperience

The 1986 Women's Tennis team was led by Sophomore Beth Patterson, who played number one singles and was voted Most Valuable Player. Leading the team in Citizenship was Junior Amy Allen. Coach Ray Adrianson commented that the team was young and inexperienced but they were in the process of building a real strong team the next two years." Beth Patterson said, "I felt that winning the MVP Award was the highest point of my season. ## Coach Hopeful with Many Returning Lettermen.

The 1986-87 Mens Tennis Team had an upsetting season with a record of 3 wins and 9 losses with 1 tie. Part of the reason for the unfortunate season was that they had only one returning letterman and two seniors on the team. "We had a lot of potential at the beginning of the season despite only having one returning letterman," stated Coach Ray Adrianson.

The Most Valuable Player for the team was Senior Mark Owens. Owens finished the season with 8 wins and 5 losses. Citizenship was awarded to Sophomore Ronnie Nance. Nance was also named the Most Improved Player of the 1986-87 season.

This season there were several players who lettered. They were as follows: Senior Dan Cansdale, Senior Mark Owens, Junior Brian Tipmore, Sophomores Ronnie Nance, Danny Millis, and Tim Fletcher. There was only one freshman who lettered this year; he was Chris Bailey.

"They should have a very successful season next year because they will have five returning letter winners to the team," said Senior Dan Cansdale.

was defeating Pike in the Hoosier Dome with a score of 26-13.

The 1986 Junior Varsity team finished its season with a record of three wins (one by forfeit) and three losses with no ties. "Attitude and intensity, which definitely were lacking at the beginning of the season, showed good improvement by the season's end," said Coach Gegner.

Spikers in Action

Volleyball is a sport that requires agility, coordination and endurance. The ladies on the '86 Volleyball team had these qualities and many more. This year's team composed of a Senior, 3 Juniors, and the rest Sophomores, is a young team that will build in the future. Though instead of showing their youth, this team proved their experience and dedication. This was demonstrated through one of the team goals, which was to work together as a team and not as individuals. Other team goals for the season were improving every game and winning C.S.A.C.

Each member of the team had at least one position she played. Many had more than that. Sophomores Angie Fager, Dawn Goodbar, Cathy Mitchell, and Juniors Amy Asher and Kelly McSpadden all served as outside hitters and blockers. Sophomores Johnnie Wolfe and Kyle Ahnfield and Junior Jennifer Sipes all played in the back row. Setting, blocking, and serving as a middle hitter were the jobs of Sophomore Angie Landis and Senior Susan Wenzlick. Angie Landis, because of her expert playing, was named to the All-Conference team.

During the Fall Sports Award Ceremony, Senior Susan Wenzlick was announced Most Valuable Player by her teammates. Susan was also the team captain. Junior Jennifer Sipes's teammates selected her for the Citizenship Award.

The Volleyball team began practicing in early August and their last meet was in late October. Their season is long and hard, but this team is made up of the right group of girls who can get the job done.

Sophomore Dawn Goodbar said, "Volleyball is a lot of work, but I like it a lot."

A Stroke of Luck for D.C.

With a combination of kicking and pulling, the 86 swim team swam to a good finish. The team had three returning letterwomen, where they next year team will have ten returning letterwomen. Leading the way in one of the stronger events for the team was Sophomore Michelle Williams in the distance freestyle. Sophomores Heather Berwick, Kim Owens, and Julie Westly also contributed to the team's success. Junior Marla Barber, proved her experience. Diving was strong with the help of Toni Eads and Alicia Fernandez. The swim team this year was a young team consisting of mainly Sophomores and Freshmen. Everybody will be back for next years team. Most valuable was given to Michelle Williams and citizenship was awarded to Julie Westly. Coach Brenda Flynn said, "The girls who finished the season were a hard working dedicated group of swimmers." Swimming is a sport that requires hard work and dedication because they begin practicing in August and their season doesn't end until November. Sophomore Michelle Williams stated, "It's a lot of hard work, but I still love it."

Aquahawks Have Bright Future

Even though the Aquahawks had an unsuccessful season, they are a young team and have a lot to look forward to. Senior Sam Hammons and Sophomore Tom Avery seemed to attract a lot of fame as they competed as divers. Sam Hammons won county for the first DC diving championship since 1975. Tom Avery also did well in the 50-yard Freestyle.

Several Juniors who put forth good performances were Scott Purdue, in the 200-and 500-yard Freestyle; Tony Jenson in the 100-yard Butterfly, and Jeff Wycoff in the 200-and 500-yard Freestyle, 100 Individual Medley, and the 100-yard Backstroke. Sophomore Ricky England demonstrated endurance as he competed in the 200 I.M. and 500 Freestyle. Fighting for the record in Breaststroke were Shannon Starr and Matt Stanfield.

Distance events which require endurance were a strength for the team, where sprint events served as a weakness.

With a strong eighth grade team coming up and improving young team the Aquahawks have a bright future ahead.

Juniors to lead varsity team

"Scoring two more points for Decatur..."

The Men's Varsity Basketball team experienced an up and down season with 7 wins and 13 losses. The game that stood out in Coach Jim Petty's mind was the County game against Ben Davis. The Hawks defeated the Giants 52-50.

The team will have five returning lettermen for next season. They are Juniors Bob Anglea, Morris Appleton, David Nauert, John LaMar, and Mark Schabel. Anglea led the Hawks in rebounds and scoring.

Coach Petty commented that the team did not do as well as he would have liked them to. He added that defense and passing hurt the team.

Junior Bob Anglea stated, "This year was a little disappointing, but I feel next year we will be stronger since we are only losing three seniors. I'm looking forward to seeing what will happen."

Wrestlers Take Regionals Again!

The Varsity Wrestling team completed one of its all-time best seasons with two returning seniors. The wrestling Hawks went for and achieved one of Coach Walpole's personal and team goals. This goal was to have a winning season. The grapplers went 10-6 for the year and captured their third double-digit victory season in a row.

"There wasn't just one particular wrestler that improved a great deal because in my eyes if you practice hard and try every practice, you will improve," stated Coach Walpole. The wrestlers that improved the most were Jerry Richards, Robert Averitte, Adam Brawner, and Tim Davis. With all of these wrestlers returning next year, Walpole looks for a tremendous season.

The Varsity Wrestlers went on to win three triple duals, C.S.A.C., Sectionals, Regionals, and captured fourth place honors in the 80-team field at the Seymour Semi-State competition. Tim Davis won the all-around championship at 155 lbs. Jeff Hawkins took 3rd at 112 lbs. These two wrestlers went on to join the parade of champions at Market Square Arena. Tim Davis was the eighth person from Decatur Central ever to win a semi-state championship.

Practice makes perfect, and the wrestlers did practice and practice hard. "In wrestling, I think there is something inside of you telling you to keep on wrestling and not to give up. I know in sports you have to practice to be good, but in wrestling you really have to practice! And then practice more. It's definitely a challenge but I think it's well worth it in the end. After all, it does separate 'the men from the ...,' said Senior letterman John Young. "Although you get tired of cutting weight and practicing every day, I don't think I could have made it through high school without it," stated four-year letterman, team captain Jeff Hawkins. Coach Walpole stated that "if we didn't practice hard every night for two hours and every weekend for two hours, we would definitely not be where we are today. I'm very proud of my wrestlers and their accomplishments."

There were several wrestlers who earned a letter in wrestling: Doug Rigney 98, Brian Pedigo 105, Jeff Hawkins 112, John Young 119, Ron Payton 121, Jerry Richards 132, Terry Obermeyer 138, Donnie Rigney 145, Brian Harrington 145, Tim Davis 155, Danny Reynolds 167, Robert Averitte 177, and Adam Brawner at Heavy Weight. "We have a lot of lettermen returning to the squad next year and I think we'll have a good season," said Junior Ron Payton.

Jeff Hawkins and John Young were the only two wrestlers that left the squad. "I think the season went real well for us this year although we did have our ups and downs. I had fun wrestling for DCHS and the coaches. After all the cutting weight, the hard practices, and arguing with Walp 'I think I'm gonna' miss it,' commented Senior John Young, three year letterman, "Although I didn't agree with some of Mr. Walpoles' ideas, I will miss him and the team very much," stated Senior Jeff Hawkins, four year letterman.

Senior four-year letterman Jeff Hawkins displays his wrestling ability. Hawkins went to State both his Junior and Senior year.

Gymnasts Flip for D.C.

Strength, concentration, balance, coordination, determination, and flexibility are a few qualities that are required to be a successful gymnast. D.C. gymnasts have these and more.

The team composed of mostly sophomores, one junior and one senior making a young team.

Leading the team was the only Senior, Tamara Harrington. Coming off an injury early in the season, she slowly attempted to work back to all around ribbon winner.

Junior Kristie Krodel showed style as she performed in the floor exercise and beam events.

The nucleus of the team was mainly sophomores. Erica Hancock, Tracy Gammon, and Krista Benge showed depth as they served as all around competitors.

The strengths of the team seemed to be in the vaulting and the bars. Leading the way in these areas were Barbara Killion and Erica Hancock. Tamara Harrington was consistent on the balance beam. Kristie Krodel danced her way in with the leaders in floor exercise.

The team's main goal was to be a team, and not a group of individuals. Coach Clark said, "Each individual triumph becomes a team triumph. There's a lot of hard work in front of us. We should be a very strong team in the next two years. We have a lot to look forward to."

"There's good points and bad points about being a senior on the Gymnastics team. A bad point is I'm graduating" explained Tamara Harrington Junior Kristie Krodel competes in the floor exercise. Popular themes such as "Rocky" and "Let the Music Play" were often backgrounds for routines.

Sophomore Dawn Krodel proved depth as she competed on the bars, beam, and in floor exercise.

Sophomore Erica Hancock showed talent and long years of hard work as she competed in all around.

Experience Through Practice and Real Competition

Letters, sweaters, chevrons, and winning were the rewards from practicing, preparing, sweating and developing muscles and attitudes in playing sports. Many athletes, who continued playing on their team throughout four years of high school, found themselves improving their skills and earning more awards. Senior Sam Hammons said, "I've put many hours in after school for swimming these past four years. So far my greatest achievement was winning the Marion County Diving Championships. I hope to win conference and sectionals and place in the top ten in state." Sam also played football for four years.

Other athletes claimed that being involved in athletics has taught them to get along with others better.

"I owe a lot to sports. They taught me responsibility and sportsmanship—a great asset," said Junior Michelle Parinello. Michelle has run track, and played Varsity basketball for three years.

Experience helped athletes; with continuing practice and actual competition the skills improved.

Heading for the finish line, Junior Jill Chestnut continues her stride in the Half-Mile race.

Junior Kara Ogle works on her backhand. Kara received a letter for the third year.

Getting set to hit the ball, Sophomore Angie Fager prepares to score.

While waiting for the bell to ring at the end of the period, Seniors Scott Dortch and Bev Randolph talk while Senior Terry Shirrell displays his football jersey.

Nicknames

Names incognito

At Decatur, many students are known by nicknames. Some of these are just shortened from real names. For example, Senior Shannon Hilderbrand goes by "Sha"; Senior Julie Jackson says her friends call her "Jules." Senior Steve Rawlins got his nickname, "Rollo," from his last name as did Senior Jeff Hawkins who sometimes goes by "Hawkeye."

Others, though, have names that are totally different. Senior Todd Roberts goes by "Meathook." Junior Ron Watts is referred to as "Squirrel" by everyone who knows him. O'Neal Majors, senior, has had his nickname, "Oatmeal," since grade school. He said he used to take juice and oatmeal pies to school for lunch everyday.

Although sometimes strange, nicknames were commonly heard in the halls of Decatur Central.

Before the day begins the Senior Class joins together and shows pride in the class.

Riding the little Log Ride, seniors reach the climax of the ride by racing down the hill.

As Staff Is Recognized by AASA

Dr. G. W. Montgomery stated, "The best indication that the program was a success was the improving test scores."

In a meeting with Superintendent Dr. G. W. Montgomery, Staff Development Coordinators Cynthia Bowler and LaVerne Cantrell discussed new ideas. Commenting on the success of the programs and the award, Mrs. Bowler stated, "We truly are number one in the state."

On October 28, 1986, Superintendent Dr. G. W. Montgomery announced that Decatur Township was one of the nine school districts in the nation to be recognized by the American Association of School Administrators (AASA) for an exemplary staff development program.

The plaque was presented in a special session at the 1987 AASA Convention in New Orleans, Louisiana. Cynthia Bowler and LaVerne Cantrell occupy the positions of full-time Staff Development Coordinators and represented Decatur Township staff improvement program.

In 1983, Teachers Expectation Student Achievement (T.E.S.A.) was developed in hope of heightening teachers' awareness of interaction in the classroom. All administration also were trained, providing a sound basis for understanding essential instructional strategies.

The program's success was made possible by teachers who were committed to their students, administrators who were interested in more than managing schools, and a school board who realized that the great asset of a school district is its people.

Another program, Critical Elements of Instruction (C.E.I.), was added to the staff improvement program. The program was offered on a voluntary basis. C.E.I. emphasized the instructional skills of the teacher. The goal of the program was to have the participants understand the strategies that promoted student learning and apply these strategies appropriately.

Advertising in Publications

The Pride Is Back.

Students take pride in their school and in their community.

Businesses take pride in their community and in their schools.

Together, these made Decatur Township, as a whole, successful.

Shops in Decatur not only supported students individually by employing them, but they supported the students as a whole by advertising in the school publications. This showed the unity and strenght of the community.

A billboard on Highway 67 read, "Decatur Township is definitely the best kept secret in Marion County." This helped express the pride taken in Decatur.

Businesses around the township supported the school in many ways. For example, they advertise in the newspaper, yearbook, and school television program. They also advertise on the sports calendar. Some even take pride by advertising concerts, contests, and games hosted by D.C. in their windows and bulletin boards.

Decatur community is a positive sign that "The Pride is Back."

Everybody knows Pepsis cost 50¢, but does everybody know where your quarters fall after you put them in?

Decatur Central supports Pepsi as seen in the picture above. A Pepsi machine was located in the gym lobby for the convenience of the students.

Seat Belts Affect Our Futures

The Indiana Seat Belt Law, effective on July 1, 1987, is a controversial subject.

Upon the threat of being told that they have to wear a seat belt or possibly pay a fine, many people are standing up and defending their rights.

In 1985, 661 Hoosiers were killed in car accidents while not wearing seat belts. The number of people injured while not wearing any restraint was 44,841. Commenting on why Indiana needs a seat belt law, Bob Donovan, Program Manager for the Division of Traffic Safety stated, "They are just dropping like flies out there."

This new law is expected not only to decrease the number of injuries and deaths, but also to help reduce the number of dollars spent each year in connection with car accidents.

An estimated 290 lives will be saved and 7,900 injuries prevented each year because of the seat belt law. Also, 146 teenagers in Indiana between the ages of 15 and 19 were killed last year in car accidents, while more than 11,000 were seriously injured.

Annually, Indiana pays $1.3 billion toward medical, rehabilitation, unemployment, and welfare costs. Something needs to be done and the seat belt law proves to help.

Another excuse some people have is the belief that seat belts do not need to be worn when traveling at low speeds or for short distances. This can quickly be proven wrong because more than 80% of all accidents happened at speeds of less than 40 mph. Also recorded is that three out of every four accidents occur within 25 miles of home.

Many people hold the fear that if they wear a seat belt they could be trapped in a burning or submerged car. "Less than one half of one percent of all injury-producing collisions involve fire or submersion," according to the pamphlet "How Many of These Fairy Tales Have You Told?" supplied by the Division of Traffic Safety, Indiana Department of Highways.

The results from a poll conducted by Indiana University show that Hoosiers do understand the importance of seat belts. Reached by phone, 81% of those contacted felt that seat belts are preventive health measures. Of these, 66.1% believed that making a law is the only way to get people to wear their seat belts.

Because of the great number of drunk drivers out on the roads today, people need to be prepared and take precautions. However, the only precaution that can be taken is to wear a seat belt or not travel in a car.

Proving how well a seat belt law can work, Australia released injury reduction reports. During the first two years of the law, beginning in 1972, eye injuries were reduced by 30%, facial injuries by 33%. This alone is reason enough for making the law mandatory in the United States. More than 30 countries have some form of seat belt law.

Car accidents are one of the most common and grotesque ways to die in American today. By supporting the seat belt law, perhaps the death rate will drop.

It takes only a minute to buckle up. So make it click together and save lives.

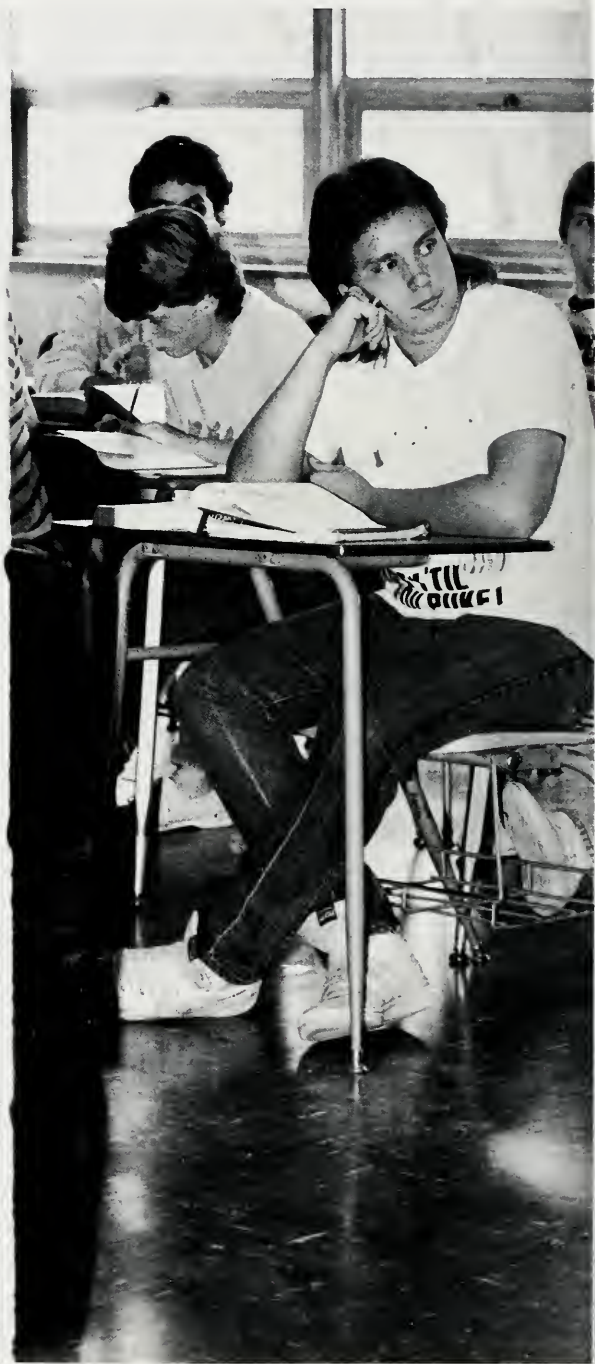

Junior Larry Lewis listens to a lecture in Geometry class. The math department held help sessions every Thursday after school.

Sophomores show their enthusiasm during the pep session before the Snow Coming game. The Hawks defeated the Speedway Spark plugs with a last minute shot.

Junior Debbie Tutsie slides into second. Debbie also played the position of 3rd base on the Softball team.

The Pride Is Back

DC Has Accomplishments Athletically and Academically

"Call Me Over the Summer!"

"I will! Have a nice summer," called two voices in the hallway on the last day of school. Trash filled the floor from a mass locker clean-out and students talked, smiled, and said goodbye as the 1987 school year came to an end. But what happened in the previous 10 months? There was Homecoming in October along with a flurry of football games. Next came the creation of the Spell Bowl team, an interscholastic competition among 16 schools. Along with the winter months and basketball season, with Senior Jeff Huffman and Junior Bob Anglea leading in the scoring, came another new team called the Academic Decathlon.

This academic team consisted of eight students who took ten tests competitively with other schools. Seniors Gary Farney and Chrysi Lehman won individual medals in this event.

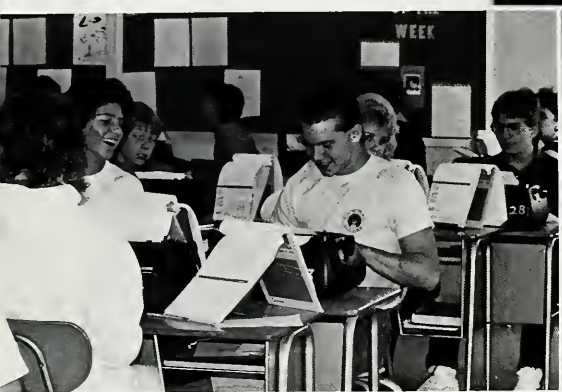

Following this, the wrestlers ended their season by winning the sectional championship for the third time in four years. Senior Jeff Hawkins and Junior Tim Davis competed at Market Square Arena in the State finals.

The year 1986-87 proved to be a successful one for Decatur academic sporting events included. D.C. students expressed by their achievements that they had pride in their school, showing that The Pride Is Back at Decatur Central!

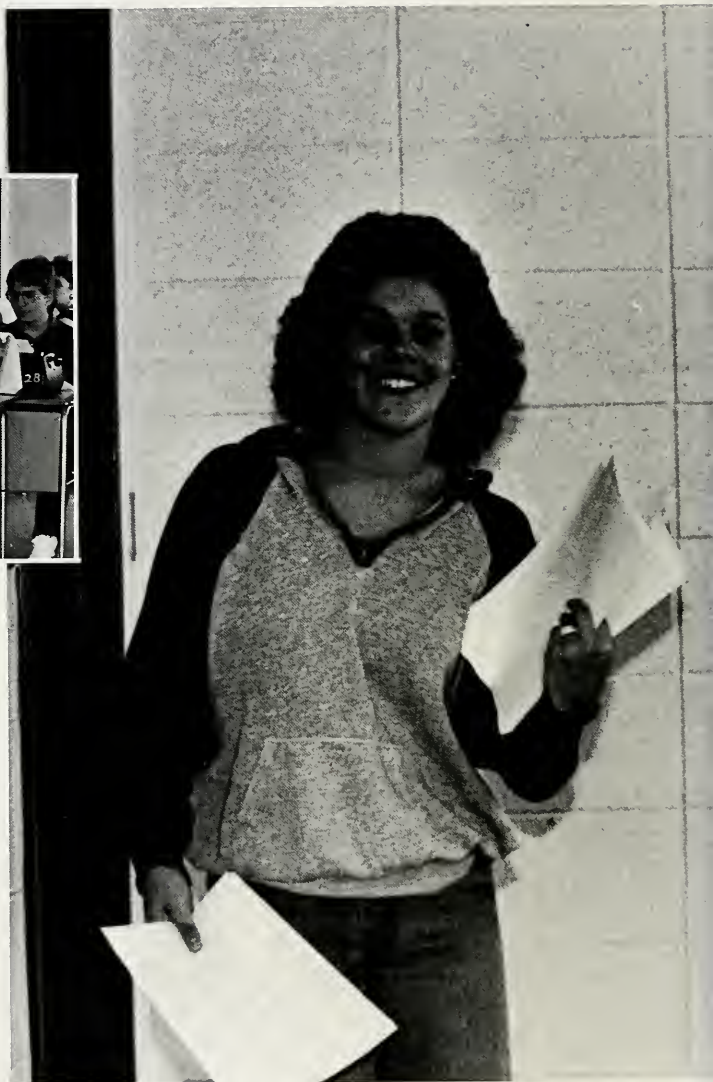

In Graphic Arts, Junior Scott Farrar and Sophomore Jimmy Collins work on homework together.

Preparing to shoot the ball Junior Michelle Parrinello avoids the Ben Davis Giants. The Hawks defeated the Giants during County.

Delivering the written morning announcements, Sophomore Peggy Taylor works as an office assistant 3rd. period.

During typing class Junior Brian Harrington works on his assignment. The typing classes honored a "typist of the week" each week.
